Standards of Botanical Quality

Become a Member of the American Herbal Pharmacopoeia

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

The American Herbal Pharmacopoeia (AHP) cordially invites you to stay abreast of the most current issues facing the world of botanical supplements and medicines by becoming a sponsoring member of AHP. This membership package is specifically developed for organizations that require the material to be readily accessible to multiple individuals within the organization. AHP members can receive a host of benefits ranging from an annual subscription to the AHP monographs and access to unpublished AHP members-only information to technical assistance from AHP staff. Another benefit of membership is an annual subscription to AHP's Herbal QRS Bulletin, which focuses on issues of Quality, Research, and Safety (QRS) for botanicals. The Herbal QRS Bulletin is designed to keep AHP members informed of the latest published findings regarding issues of critical importance to all sectors involved in the manufacture, sale, education, research, and regulation of herbal products. The information contained in the Herbal QRS Bulletin will be relevant to those involved with botanical product analysis and quality control, clinical investigators, regulators looking for the information needed to confirm manufacturer compliance with good manufacturing practices (GMPs), and manufacturers needing to comply with GMPs. Anyone involved in the review of published data recognizes that not all research is relevant or utilitarian. Each Herbal QRS Bulletin will include AHP commentary on the validity and utility of the information presented to various sectors.

The various membership levels have additional benefits, which are listed on the attachment. Please choose the one that will give you the most value for your budget. Becoming a sponsoring member of AHP will keep your organization current on issues of direct relevance to all aspects of the botanical supplements and medicines world while providing a tax-deductible means for supporting the continuing work of AHP. We look forward to including you as a member. If you have any questions about any AHP program, please let us know.

Sincerely and with warm wishes,

Roy Upton, Executive Director
